Component Mission

The National Counterterrorism Center (NCTC) leads our nation's effort to combat terrorism at home and abroad by analyzing the threat, sharing that information with our partners, and integrating all instruments of national power to ensure unity of effort. The Center serves as the primary organization in the United States Government (USG) for analyzing and integrating all intelligence possessed or acquired by the USG pertaining to terrorism and counterterrorism, and its Director serves as the Counterterrorism Mission Manager. NCTC also serves as the central and shared knowledge bank on known and suspected terrorists and international terrorist groups, as well as their goals, strategies, capabilities, and networks of contacts and support. In addition, NCTC conducts strategic operational planning for counterterrorism activities, coordinating and integrating the efforts of departments and agencies across the Federal Government.

Major Duties and Responsibilities (MDRs)

Group Mission: (U) The Asia/Americas Group (AAG) within the NCTC DI provides current and strategic assessments and support to NCTC leadership pertaining to Sunni terrorism across East and South Asia and the Western Hemisphere. The branch writes intelligence products for senior CT officials across the USG, and provides briefings to policymakers and IC counterparts. There are opportunities to travel domestically and overseas. The successful candidate will lead a team with a skilled mix of employees on rotation from across the IC as well as Office of the Director of National Intelligence (ODNI) staff employees. Branch Role: (U) The Afghanistan and Central Asia Branch strives to lead the IC in warning of emerging terrorist threats in/from Afghanistan and Central Asia and to be our customers' premier resource for strategic analysis on terrorism and counterterrorism in the region to shape US policy by incorporating innovative approaches to key intelligence questions and integrating CT community partner efforts.

Major Duties and Responsibilities

- Provide expert guidance and leadership in the production of well-crafted, sophisticated, analytic finished intelligence products on sometimes controversial or particularly difficult issues in support of United States (US) foreign policy and national security objectives; review final analytic products, written and oral, for clarity, organization, accuracy, and logic; effectively explain highly complex concepts to non-expert customers and tailor products to correspond to customer needs.
- Lead and direct team in substantive analysis; plan, coordinate, and oversee work in a manner consistent with fulfilling organizational directives and accomplishing mission goals.
- Lead and direct team in the gathering of political, social, cultural, economic, military, scientific, and historical information in support of US interests and policy objectives; guide teams in the development and identification of highly relevant information from internal and external sources to meet client needs.
- Develop and maintain working relationships with senior NCTC officials and, as necessary, principals throughout the intelligence and policy communities; identify issues and developments with internal and external peers, communicating regularly to exchange subject information. • Develop the substantive analytic and leadership skills of subordinate employees, and contribute to the broader corporate mission of the organization. • Serve as the primary approver for the allocation of resources including but not limited to training, travel, and contracts; advise senior leadership on resource needs for the entire unit. • Evaluate and develop analysts; serve as a substantive supervisory and analytic resource; provide substantive feedback to include career development counseling and skills development.

Mandatory and Educational Requirements

- Demonstrated ability to effectively plan and manage the development of high-quality, complex analyses, studies, projects, assignments, and briefings on key US foreign policy and national security objectives focused on a specific regional area and/or functional issue for IC consumers and policymakers at the highest levels of government. • Demonstrated ability to support personal and professional development of all levels of personnel. • Demonstrated interpersonal, organizational, and critical thinking skills, including the ability to think strategically.

Desired Requirements

- Demonstrated and exemplary intelligence community collaboration skills. • Experience with South Asia political/military or CT intelligence analysis. • Experience working in Afghanistan, Central or South Asia.
